

THE UNIVERSAL HOUSE OF JUSTICE

1987-08-31

To the followers of Bahá'u'lláh throughout the world

1 beloved friends,

Nigh on one hundred years ago, Bahá'u'lláh walked on God's holy mountain and revealed the Tablet of Carmel, the charter of the world

2 center of his faith, calling into being the metropolis of the kingdom of God on earth. Through decades of oppression and expansion, persecu-

3 tion and emancipation, his followers have successfully labored to carry his

4 message to the remotest regions of the earth, to erect the structure of his

5 Administrative order, and to proclaim to mankind the divinely prescribed

6 cure for all its ills. In the past eight years the agonies suffered by his lovers

7 in Iran have awakened the interest of a slumbering world and have brought 8 his faith to the center of human attention.

On this same Mount Carmel 'Abdu'l-Bahá, with infinite pains, raised

9 the mausoleum of the Báb on the spot chosen by his father, and laid to 10 rest within its heart the sacred remains of the prophet herald of the faith,

11 establishing a Spiritual center of immeasurable significance. In accordance 12 with the same divine command, Shoghi Effendi embellished the Shrine with 13 an exquisite shell and then, under its protecting wing, began the construc-

14 tion of the Administrative center of the faith, to comprise five buildings

15 in a harmonious style of architecture, standing on a far-flung Arc centering on the monuments of the greatest Holy Leaf, her mother and brother.

16 The first of these five buildings, the International Archives, was completed

17 in the beloved Guardian's lifetime. The second, the Seat of the Universal

18 House of Justice, now stands at the apex of the Arc. Plans for the remaining

19 three were prepared in fulfillment of a goal of the Seven Year Plan, and are 20 now being detailed.

21 As indicated in our letter of 30 April 1987, the way is now open for the 22 bahá'í world to erect the remaining buildings of its Administrative center, 23 and we must without delay stride forward resolutely on this path.

24 five closely related projects demand our attention: the erection of the 25 three remaining buildings on the Arc and, added now to these, the construction of the terraces of the Shrine of the Báb and the extension of the 36.1

38 International Archives building. A brief description of each of these will 39 convey an impression of their significance for the Faith.

– The Terraces of the Shrine of the Báb. in his plans for the development of Mount Carmel, 'Abdu'l-Bahá envisaged nineteen 40 monumental terraces from the foot of the mountain to its crest, nine leading to the terrace on which the Shrine of the Báb itself stands, and nine above it. These plans were often referred to by Shoghi Effendi, and he completed in preliminary form the nine terraces constituting the approach to the Shrine from the central 41 avenue of the former German Templar colony.

– The International Teaching Center will be the seat of that institution which is specifically invested with the twin functions of the protection and propagation of the cause of God. The institution itself, referred to by the beloved Guardian in his writings, was established in June 1973, bringing to fruition the work of the hands of the cause of God residing in the Holy Land and providing for the extension into the future of functions with which that body had 42 been endowed.

43 – The Center for the Study of the Texts. This building will be the seat of an institution of bahá'í scholars, the efflorescence of the present research department of the world center, which will as-ings, and will prepare translations of and commentaries on the 44 authoritative texts of the faith.

– The International Archives Building. we have decided to construct, westwards, an extension to the basement of the present Archives building to provide accommodation for the central office of the ever-growing Archives at the world center. This institution is 45 charged with responsibility for the preservation of the Sacred Texts and relics and the historic documents of the cause of god.

– The International Bahá'í Library. This library is the central de-

46 pository of all literature published on the faith, and is an essential source of information for the institutions of the world center on all subjects relating to the cause of god and the conditions of mankind. in future decades its functions must grow, it will serve as

47 an active center for knowledge in all fields, and it will become the kernel of great institutions of scientific investigation and discovery.36.4a

37 1986–1992 • The Six Year Plan

38 69it is impossible at this stage to give an accurate estimate of the cost of 39 these projects. All that we can now say is that in the immediate future two

40 objectives have to be met: to accumulate rapidly a reserve of fifty million

41 dollars on which plans for the construction can realistically begin to be implemented, and to provide an income of between twenty and twenty-five million dollars for the bahá'í international fund for each of the next ten

42 years. As the work proceeds, contracts are signed and costs can be accurately determined, further information will be announced.

43 The great work of constructing the terraces, landscaping their surround-44 ings, and erecting the remaining buildings of the Arc will bring into being 45 a vastly augmented world center structure which will be capable of meet-46 ing the challenges of coming centuries and of the tremendous growth of 47 the bahá'í community which the beloved guardian has told us to expect.
 48 this has given to the advancement of the faith. who can gauge what trans-49 formations will be effected as a result of the completion of each successive 50 stage of this great enterprise? The faith advances, not at a uniform rate of 51 growth, but in vast surges, precipitated by the alternation of crisis and vic-52 tory. in a passage written on 18 July 1953, in the early months of the Ten 53 year crusade, Shoghi effendi, referring to the vital need to ensure through 54 the teaching work a "steady flow" of "fresh recruits to the slowly yet steadily advancing army of the lord of hosts," stated that this flow would "presage 55 and hasten the advent of the day which, as prophesied by 'Abdu'l-b ahá, will 56 witness the entry by troops of peoples of divers nations and races into the bahá'í world."

57 36-1 This day the bahá'í world has already seen in Africa, the 58 pacific, in Asia and in latin America, and this process of entry by troops 59 must, in the present plan, be augmented and spread to other countries for, as the guardian stated in this same letter, it "will be the prelude to that long-60 awaited hour when a mass conversion on the part of these same nations and races, and as a direct result of a chain of events, momentous and possibly 61 catastrophic in nature and which cannot as yet be even dimly visualized, will 62 suddenly revolutionize the fortunes of the faith, derange the equilibrium of 63 the world, and reinforce a thousandfold the numerical strength as well as the

39 This is the time for which we must now prepare ourselves; this is the hour 40 whose coming it is our task to hasten.

41 At this climacteric of human history, we are called upon to rise up in sac-

42 rificial endeavor, our eyes on the awe-inspiring responsibilities which such 43 developments will place upon bahá'í institutions and individual believers in 44 every land, and our hearts filled with unshakeable confidence in the guiding hand of the founder of our faith. That our beloved lord will arouse his 45 followers in every land to a mighty united effort is our ardent prayer at the Sacred Threshold.
46 with loving bahá'í greetings,
